

6 December 1954

MEMO FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK COMMITTEE

1030 - 1230 - County Fair - R & S

During this period [REDACTED] stated to me that he did not feel that the various offices visited were opening up enough on logical problems which obviously should confront those therein over a period of exposure. As he put it, this would be a wonderful opportunity to make recommendations which the Hoover Committee might well be able to back in the interest of more efficient operations in the future. I personally do not subscribe to this theory and strongly recommend that we go on as we have in the past, merely showing them our various responsibilities but not airing any family problems for them to juggle.

25X1A

[REDACTED] mentioned that as soon as he had a list of all of the publications produced by the Agency the Commission would arbitrarily choose a half dozen or more and trace them to their ultimate consumers in the attempt to determine whether or not said publications were of value to the consumers or merely, as he put it, "The frosting on the cake".

1400 - 1600 - OCI Publications

25X1A [REDACTED] informed me that with the NSCID Regulations as a starting point, they would look into Agency directives and determine how they supported the original authority.

25X1A [REDACTED] was interested in how much editing of substantive material was done and how much freedom of thought was allowed the original author of a paper or a statement.

25X1A [REDACTED] was still concerned over the advisability of centralizing all publications of Central Intelligence rather than allowing unrelated IAC members to publish their individual thoughts.

STATINTL

STATINTL

FLD/du

cc: [REDACTED]

Inspector General

010155

~~SECRET~~

6 December 1954

MEMO FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK COMMITTEE

1030 - 1230 - County Fair - R & S

During this period McGruder stated to me that he did not feel that the various offices visited were opening up enough on logical problems which obviously should confront those therein over a period of exposure. As he put it, this would be a wonderful opportunity to make recommendations which the Hoover Committee might well be able to back in the interest of more efficient operations in the future. I personally do not subscribe to this theory and strongly recommend that we go on as we have in the past, merely showing them our various responsibilities but not airing any family problems for them to juggle.

Colonel Miller mentioned that as soon as he had a list of all of the publications produced by the Agency the Commission would arbitrarily choose a half dozen or more and trace them to their ultimate consumers in the attempt to determine whether or not said publications were of value to the consumers or merely, as he put it, "The frosting on the cake".

1400 - 1600 - OCI Publications

McGruder informed me that with the NSCID Regulations as a starting point, they would look into Agency directives and determine how they supported the original authority.

Colonel Miller was interested in how much editing of substantive material was done and how much freedom of thought was allowed the original author of a paper or a statement.

Miller was still concerned over the advisability of centralizing all publications of Central Intelligence rather than allowing unrelated IAC members to publish their individual thoughts.

Inspector General

This document has been approved for release through the HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Date 5/5/92

HRP 89-2

010155